Passages in Today's Sermon

Exodus 32, Ezekiel 20:5, Isaiah 44:9-20, Matt 6:31-33

What do you notice about Paul's heart when he sees the idols in Athens? Why does he move to engage rather than step away and judge?

How does knowing that God is both Creator and near to us change the way you see your daily life and work?

If someone asked you to describe "the good life," what would you say – and how do you think most people around you would answer?

What does it mean to you that the God people "miss" has made Himself known in Jesus?

If someone looked at your time, energy, and attention, what would they say you "bring your best" to?

How does putting Christ first help the rest of life fall into place? What happens when we reverse that order?

Where do you see Epicurean (pleasure-seeking) or Stoic (self-controlled, cynical) ways of life showing up in our world – or in yourself?
